WHERE TO NEXT GAILES?

An aerial photograph of a golf course. In the lower-left corner, there is a large, white, Tudor-style clubhouse with a dark roof and a parking lot. To the left of the clubhouse, a residential area with several houses is visible. The golf course itself is a vast, green expanse with various fairways, greens, and sand traps. A road runs along the right side of the clubhouse. In the background, a blue body of water (the sea) stretches to the horizon under a clear sky. The word "COURSES" is overlaid in large, white, sans-serif capital letters across the center of the image.

CARNOUSTIE GOLF LINKS

Carnoustie is considered by many to be the toughest of all the Open links courses. Walter Hagen described it as 'A great big shaggy monster' going on to praise it as the greatest golf course in the British Isles and one of the top three in the world. Historians believe the game has been played here since the early 16th century.

GULLANE GOLF COURSE

Golf has been played over the links at Gullane for more than 350 years. Today, Gullane Golf Club is one of Scotland's most prestigious member clubs, mixing the finest tradition with some of the most admired natural links land in the world. Gullane is blessed with superb turf and a climate that allows all year round golf. Visitors are welcome to play our championship courses which offer dramatic coastal views and a golfing challenge to savour.

DUNBAR GOLF CLUB

To play on Dunbar , an Open qualify in championship links, is to play within yards of waves as they crash onto the rocky shore. It is to pit yourself against a course made by nature and then man's best efforts over 150 years. It is to walk in the footsteps of some of the greatest golfers in the world.

ARCHERFIELD LINKS (FIDRA)

The Fidra Course at Archerfield Links offers a thrilling golfing experience with its fast-running links layout, strategically placed deep bunkers, and large subtly contoured greens. Enjoy breathtaking views of the Forth Estuary and the iconic Bass Rock, as well as the majestic pine trees that grace the opening holes of this remarkable course.

An aerial photograph of the Archerfield Links golf course. The image shows a large, green golf course with a winding path. To the left, there is a large, multi-story building, likely the clubhouse, surrounded by trees. The background features a dense forest and distant hills under a clear sky.

ARCHERFIELD LINKS (DIRLETON)

At Archerfield Links, it's golf as it's meant to be. The great game but without any great fuss and bother. Here to be enjoyed by those who appreciate things done well. But never overdone.
